Membership Criteria

Program Member: A faculty member of UCI who 1) has independent cancer-relevant peer-reviewed research (non-training) funding from the NIH/NCI or an NCI-recognized organization*; 2) is a project leader on a qualifying cooperative grant (e.g. P01, SPORE); 3) holds a Cancer Center senior leadership position; and/or 4) is a key new cancer-relevant recruit to UCI (within the first three years).

Member: A faculty member of UCI who 1) is a clinical research leader as evidenced by having P.I. status on an interventional clinical trial or a peer-reviewed non-interventional trial; or 2) holds a cancer-relevant career development award from the NIH (K-series award) or an NCI-recognized organization.

Associate Member: A UCI faculty member/researcher who 1) directs a CCSG-supported shared resource; and/or 2) contributes in a substantial way to cancer-related research, patient care, education, or community service but does not qualify as a Program Member or Member; or a non-UCI faculty member of another institution who is not a member of another NCI-designated cancer center and who has a substantial collaboration with a UCI Cancer Center member(s).

All those in membership are expected to contribute to the strength of the Cancer Center through support of Cancer Center activities. All Program Members and Members are expected to publish regularly and contribute toward development of a program with external recognition. All members may be either programmatically or non-programmatically aligned. Membership alignment is limited to one Program. Final membership decisions are based upon the above criteria and review and approval by Cancer Center leadership and the Cancer Center Director.
