

Sponsored by the Cancer Control Program

The Role of Dietary Nutrients and Environmental Contaminants in Cancer Survivors

Tuo Lan, MS, MPH, PhD

Postdoctoral Research Associate, Washington University School of Medicine

Dr. Lan is an epidemiologist specializing in cancer and chronic disease prevention, with a focus on diet and environmental exposures. With over 18 peer-reviewed publications and work cited more than 1,000 times, her research has informed global cancer prevention guidelines and supported government efforts to address environmental and occupational health risks.

Wednesday, June 18, 2025

11:00 AM–12:00 PM

Zoom

Join Zoom
Meeting ID 968 2295 1168
Passcode 173649